Are you responsible for delivering governmental or professional services, products, education, or health care? If you are, the data shows that you also need to be concerned about violence in the workplace and its impact on your business and employees.

Workplace Violence accounts for nearly 800 homicides each year in the U.S. and nearly 2 million American workers are victims of some form of Workplace Violence every year!

Federal regulations require that all employers make reasonable efforts to keep their employees safe and to mitigate the potential harm caused by Workplace Violence.

In this seminar, attendees will learn specific techniques of what to do if the unthinkable happens and they find themselves in the middle of an Active Shooter Situation.

There are specific and easy to remember actions that YOU CAN DO to drastically increase the chances of surviving an Active Shooter Situation for you, coworkers, and your family.

The Active Shooter Situation will be over in minutes but seconds will count, do you know what to do?
